Why a targeted boycott?

- U.S. consumer boycotts contributed to the downfall of apartheid in South Africa
- Since 2005, Palestinians have called on the international community to engage in consumer boycotts
- More than a way to reduce individual economic complicity
- Exercise collective power against strategically-selected targets
- Proven and effective tactic

Why a food boycott?

By targeting Israeli food production companies, we:

- Divest from food grown on stolen land
- Decrease funding for the apartheid regime
- Reduce economic support of occupation military forces

And anyone who buys food can participate!
